I've tried the following, but haven't been able to get it to work. The game screen on right is the game itself, on the left is the Character class. In the Character.h: #import @interface Character : SKNode @property (nonatomic) NSString *characterName; In Character.m #import "Character.h" @implementation Character @synthesize characterName; -(id)initWithName:(NSString *)newName { if(self = [super init]) { self.characterName = newName; } return self; } And in the other class: Character *character = [Character initWithName:@"Panther"]; NSString *characterName = [[NSString alloc] init]; character.characterName = characterName; But I'm getting an error in the line: character.characterName = characterName; In the line it says: Incompatible integer to pointer conversion sending 'NSString' to parameter of type 'NSString *' A: You have to allocate characterName like this: NSString* characterName = [[NSString alloc] initWithString:@""]; Also make

Polynomial decomposition of sproings in differential geometry In differential geometry, a sproing may be defined as the complexification of the tangent bundle on a manifold. It is therefore a vector bundle given by the complexification of the cotangent bundle. A or briefly sproings is given by the complex vector bundle where is the tangent bundle,, is the complexification and is the fiberspace. is called a tubular neighborhood, it is diffeomorphic to the product. The structures on and are defined as follows. A tensor field on a differentiable manifold is called a tensor field of type, if it is a (i.e. -valued) tensor field on in some local coordinates on. is called the complexification of and is called the fiberspace of . For such that, define the real bundle over which is called. The real structure on is defined as The following two theorems give the decomposition of a sproing in terms of the real and complex parts of the tangent bundle. Theorem 1. If is a sproing with , then there is a natural diffeomorphism of real vector bundles over, where is the fiberspace of and is called the pullback of. Theorem 2. If is a sproing with, then there is a natural
