A human rights organization called Community United Against Violence wanted to show the film called "The Innocence of Muslims" at the Castro Theater on Sept. 18. The theater denied its request, citing open-ended safety concerns. The team behind the movie is a mystery group called al-Haramain Islamic Foundation — with members residing in Saudi Arabia, the Middle East and the United States. The name "al-Haramain" refers to a holy place in Mecca and Medina in Saudi Arabia, where the Muslim ritual of the Hajj is performed. "We've created a film, called 'The Innocence of Muslims,' that's been in the making for about five or six years, and every American should see it," said Curt Guyett, director of the American Center for Democracy. "It portrays Islam in a very inappropriate and offensive fashion. It's sacrilegious in the extreme." The film has sparked violent protests in the Middle
